DC Heads For Twilight Zone

Remember all those DC science fiction heroes from years past: heroes like Tommy Tomorrow and the Planeteers, the Star Rovers, Star Hawkins, Manhunter 2070, Ironwolf, and Space Cabbie, to name a few? Ever wonder what happened to all those guys 'n' gals?

Howard Chaykin did--and his wondering spawned a new prestige-format limited series, Twilight, that brings together all these characters in a storyline that presents a uniquely Chaykinesque approach to space adventure.

In Chaykin's vision of the DC future, the universe is both a high-tech wonder and an age of brutal barbarism. One character--Tommy Tomorrow--has risen to the top, and no one makes a move without his approval. The Star Rovers have disbanded--but they reunite in a search for immortality. Meanwhile, Star Hawkins is searching for his lost robot secretary, Ilda--and he's convinced that his brother Manhunter 2070 knows something...not only about Ilda, but about Tommy Tomorrow as well. What Hawkins is unaware of is that one of these characters may be the key to a new dawning of mankind...or to its twilight...

Chaykin is writing the three-issue Twilight limited series, but he will not be illustrating the book. Instead, he has teamed with the talented Jose Luis Garcia-Lopez, artist of Superman, The New Teen Titans, Deadman, Cinder and Ashe, and other books for DC; Lopez' slick, stylish art will bring Twilight to life (along with the stunning color work of Steve Oliff, who's supplied color to such works as Gilgamesh II, Akira, and Cosmic Odyssey).

Twilight, a three-issue prestige-format limited series priced at $3.95, will have major ramifications upon the future of DC's science fiction heroes. To see just what the future holds in store for these nostalgic heroes from the early days of the Silver Age, you'll have to wait for September 27th; that's when Twilight begins.

Is Mighty Mouse Going Batty?...

Mighty Mouse fans may have noticed the strong Bat-connection in the premiere issue, which spoofed Frank Miller's The Dark Knight Returns complete with a send-up cover. Batfans who enjoyed that story are sure to be tickled by what Marvel has planned for Mighty Mouse #3, an October release.

The lead story in Mighty Mouse #3 features the comics debut of one of the most popular characters from the animated Ralph Bakshi Mighty Mouse television show, Bat-Bat! When Mighty Mouse has to leave town, Bat-Bat is in charge of Mouseville. Mike Kazaleh, one of the animation artists on the Mighty Mouse television cartoon show, is supplying the artwork for this issue, undoubtedly pleasing fans of the lamented cartoon.

The second story shows fans just why Mighty Mouse is leaving Mouseville: he's on a mission to alleviate an environmental disaster. And when you think of stories with an environmental slant, what wingfooted hero comes to mind? Why, Prince Say-More, of course! That's right, this underwater prince meets Mighty Mouse in the second adventure, illustrated by Ernie Colon.

Both adventures are written by Michael Gallagher and inked by Marie Severin. Mighty Mouse #3 is scheduled for October 11th release.

Eclipse Lands Lost Continent

Eclipse's popular line of manga translations, produced in conjunction with Toren Smith and Studio Proteus, expands again in late September. Lost Continent, the newest addition to the manga translation line, is a six-issue prestige-format series by Akihiro Yamada that Eclipse describes as "a hybrid between the hyper-realism of European artists such as Moebius and the slick finishes of Americans like Dave Stevens--something new from Japan."

Lost Continent is a suspenseful adventure series that revolves around the discovery of a deserted airplane floating off the Japanese coast. Two men--Naruse, a journalist, and Hazekura, a young professor of archaeology--explore the plane's origins. Just when it seems that they've found a source who knows about army research that might relate to the airplane mystery, their source is killed--apparently by a saber-tooth tiger! Then the reporter and the archaeologist meet a strange loin-cloth-cad man who has uncanny ties with the saber-tooth tiger...

Lost Continent will actually consist of two limited series; Lost Continent Book II will follow immediately after the completion of the first series. Alan Gleason and Toren Smith are translating and preparing Lost Continent for Eclipse; each issue will contain 64 black-and-white pages for $3.50. The first issue is slated for release at the end of September.

Innovation Set to Ride Pale Horse To Success

Piers Anthony's Incarnations of Immortality have been perhaps of his most popular and successful science fiction-fantasy series; beginning in November 1990, Innovation Comics is ready to make them his most popular comic book series as well. On A Pale Horse, the first novel in the Incarnations of Immortality series, will become a six-issue comic book limited series beginning in November--and Innovation is optimistic than the adaptations of the remaining six novels entire will follow.

On A Pale Horse will be a fully painted series featuring art by Michael Okamoto, who has also worked on Vampire Lestat, Maze Agency, and Hero Alliance for Innovation.

The Incarnations of Immortality series is set in a world in which science and magic coexist. Zane, an inhabitant of this world, is prepared to take his own life--but in a strange turn of events, he lives while the embodiment of death dies at his hands. This leaves only Zane to carry on Death's job as one of the incarnations of Immortality (the other incarnations are Fate, Time, War, and Mother Nature).

Innovation has already proven with Vampire Lestat that it can successfully translate quality fantasy literature to the comics format; however, Jim Elliott of Innovation pointed out that the company has learned one valuable lesson from the Vampire Lestat adaptations.

"We had interest from several bookstore chains on our adaptation of The Vampire Lestat," Elliott said. "Unfortunately, those parties balked when we were unable to supply them with a version of Lestat that had a spine.

"Producing a trade paperback version of Lestat has been an impossibility, contractually, al along, but this has taught us an important lesson..." As a result of the problems with Vampire Lestat, On a Pale Horse will be adapted in six 48-page prestige-format issues instead--meaning that each book will indeed have a spine.

On a Pale Horse will carry a $4.95 cover price; the first full-color issue is slated for late November release. This actually marks the second time a Piers Anthony novel has been adapted to comics in 1990; Warp Graphics is bringing his upcoming novel Return to Centaur to comics form beginning this summer.

NEXUS UNDERGOES METAMORPHOSIS

Nexus, the long-running series created by Mike Baron and Steve Rude, will be coming to an end in January of 1991 with the release of Nexus #80--but before you begin your lamentations, rest assured that this doesn't mean that you won't be seeing any more Nexus adventures from First Comics. While the final issue of the standard comic book appears in January, Nexus will continue in a series of three-issue prestige-format limited series illustrated by top talents (possibly including Steve Rude himself!). A final bit of good news for Nexus fans: much of the material originally announced for the Nexus Files one-shot will be included in the back of Nexus beginning with Nexus #78, on sale in November. Oh, and have we told you about the second Judah: Hammer of God limited series written by Mike Baron and Roger Salick and slated for 1991 release?...

DETECTIVE ANNUAL: AN ARCHIE COMIC!

...Archie Goodwin, that is. The former editor of Epic, who's hard at work on his own series of editorial projects for DC, is taking some time off to write Detective Comics Annual #3, a story that takes Batman to Japan where he has to face the master to taught him his initial combat skills. Dan Jurgens, the writer-artist of Adventures of Superman, is preparing the layouts for the annual; Dick Giordano is finishing the art for this extra-long story. Detective Comics Annual #3, a 64-page comic priced at $2, is scheduled for September 18th release.

HARD TIMES FOR HARDCOVERS

The problems that plague comics-related hardcovers seem to have hit hard at Marvel Comics, where three different hardcover projects have been pushed back many weeks. The long-awaited Classic Captain America two-volume hardcover set, reprinting Simon & Kirby's Captain America #1-10, originally scheduled for June release, has suffered the worst delays, being pushed back to September. Also delayed are the Spider-Man: Spirits of the Earth and Harvey Kurtzman's Strange Adventure s hardcovers, each of which now rescheduled for late August shipping.

IF YOU'RE EAGER FOR GIGER

H.R. Giger, the artist best known to American fans for his design work on Ridley Scott's Alien, is also one of the most respected surrealists working today. Many American fans haven't had many chances to see his work, however, other than the occasional piece that shows up on an album cover or in a film magazine. There's an easy way to remedy that, however: H.R. Giger's Biomechanics, a 12" x 17" hardcover that features over 300 illustrations. The book features a look at the organo-mechanic work of Giger, including unseen paintings and a full twenty-two page section featuring his designs for Poltergeist II. Harlan Ellison supplies the introduction to Biomechanics; this handsome hardcover, complete with a foil stamped dust jacket, is priced at $69.50. Be sure to let your local comic shop know as soon as possible if you want a copy--and tell 'em that CSN sent you...

EXPLORING PUNISHER'S COLORFUL PAST

A year or so ago, Marvel released a Classic Punisher bookshelf-format comic reprinting early black-and-white Punisher adventures from the Punisher's Marvel magazine appearances in the late 70's. Unfortunately, something went wrong and the book appeared in black-and-white, not in color as originally announced. Since then, fans have been wondering if they'd ever have a chance to see those early Punisher adventures in full color... Wonder no longer! Beginning with Strip #16, on sale in mid-September, Marvel will begin serializing an early Punisher story by Archie Goodwin and Tony DeZuniga--but this time around, the story will be presented in full color. To commemorate the appearance of the Punisher in the pages of Strip, Kevin O'Neill (artist of Marshal Law) has painted a Punisher cover--his first illustration of the the character! Of course, Strip continues to present John Wagner's, Alan Grant's, and Ian Gibson's Genghis Grimtoad, Eric Puech's Wolfram, Lodevijk's and Lawrence's Storm: Labyrinth of Death, and a new Furman-Senior Death's Head story. All of this can be yours for only $2.50!...

SCORPIONS TALE IS CONTINUING

Leo Duranona's Race of Scorpions, a popular feature in Dark Horse Presents, continues to get the full-color treatment in Race of Scorpions: Book Two, a reprinting of material previously available only in black and white. This 48-page book continues the fantasy saga of intrigue on a desert world. The fully-painted Race of Scorpions: Book Two is priced at $4.95; look for it in comic shops in September.

HERE'S JUST WHAT YOU WITCH-ED FOR

Eternity Comics creative director Tom Mason tells CSN that "we try to do a special Halloween project every year, and this time we went with a horror anthology" to follow up successful Halloween projects like The Headless Horseman and Jack the Ripper. The resulting anthology, Halloween Terror, is due out in late September to give readers an early start on Halloween hijinks.

Halloween Terror #1 will feature five short stories woven around classic horror fiends: vampires, mummies, werewolves, and Frankenstein's monster. plus a quirky final tale, "On Hold" by Bruce McCorkindale, that is a gripping story of a man who've been hanging on the phone for too long. Other contributors to Halloween Terror #1 include Steve Jones, Bill Spangler, John Ross, S.A. Bennett, Michael Rydwell, Lowell Cunningham, and Marvin Perry Mann. Ron Wilber supplies the cover for the one-shot.

GO WEST, YOUNG FAN...

AC continues its Western series this September with a trio of Western titles plus a pair of special items. Bobby Benson's B-Bar-B Riders #1, a $2.75 black and white comic, features four Bob Powell classic stories and a reprinted cover by Frank Frazetta. John Buscema and Russ Manning are represented in Roy Rogers Western Classics #3, a $3.95 comic that features comic stories, photos, and features dealing with Roy, Dale, Trigger, and the rest of the gang. The Tom Mix Holiday Album is a one-shot that features 44 pages of Tom Mix action-adventure for $3.50; Carl Pfuefer and John Jordan supply the comic art for this book, which is shot from the original stats.

Fans who enjoy Western memorabilia will have to have the two button sets that AC is offering in September; each four-button set is priced at $5. AC's first two Western button sets are Roy Rogers and Tom Mix; all buttons are 2.5" full-color buttons. As with all specialty items of this sort, you might want to let your local comic shop know that you're interested--and tell 'em that CSN sent you...

TALK ABOUT LAST CHANCES...

Another Rainbow's Carl Barks Library will reach completion in late September; that's when the tenth and final volume of the library will be readied for release. Priced at $110, this set is a massive 722 pages; it contains 65-different ten-page Donald Duck adventures by Carl Barks that were originally published in issues of Walt Disney's Comics & Stories between #230 and #312, including unpublished material; special articles by Barks experts; a chronological index of Barks" Disney work; and an addenda and errata section.

Okay, there's the good news. Now, here's the bad news: Gladstone's license to produce and print the entire Carl Barks Library expires on September 30. "After October 1st, when we run out of a set it'll be gone forever," Bruce Hamilton, publisher of Another Rainbow, said. "It's highly unlikely that the Walt Disney Company or another publisher will decide to go to press with a new Library. The CBL's 30 volumes are too expensive to produce and there are too many sets out. Also, no new publisher--even Disney--would have permission from Barks to promote his name. We've paid him royalties throughout the seven years it took to do the ten sets. Nobody else seems to want to pay royalties to both Disney and Barks."

So what does this mean for the collector? Well, it means that if you've put off buying the Carl Barks Library volumes until a more opportune time, you'd better start budgeting for these ten boxed sets now; beginning October 1st, these books are going to become bonafide rarities once they sell out (unlike the EC Library volumes from Russ Cochran, which will remain in print indefinitely). You might want to start adding the Barks sets to your Christmas wish lists now--and be sure to let your local comic shop know that you want them so that they can acquire them for you while they're still available...

DEATHLOK & MARVEL COMICS PRESENTS: A WINNING COMBINATION

If you've been reading Marvel's Deathlok series, you may have noticed an enigmatic footnote or two referring you to Marvel Comics Presents #62. If you checked with your local comic shop, however, you've discovered that Marvel Comics Presents #62 doesn't exist yet. Is this some strange time warp in action? No--just an indication of the lead-time involved in creating a bi-weekly anthology book. Marvel Comics Presents #62 will finally appear on September 6th, though, and it will contain that previously-cited Deathlok story that reveals the first test run of the new Deathlok by the creative team of the new series (Dwayne McDuffie, Greg Wright, and Jackson Guice). If that's not enough to put MCP 62 on your must-have list, maybe the Dwight Zimmerman-Paul Ryan Wolverine two-parter that begins in this issue will do it...or perhaps the Scarlet Witch serial by Richard Howell...or maybe the Steve Gerber-Cynthia Martin Poison 8-parter...

SHION PROVES VIZ NOT SHY ON NEW FORMATS

Shion, slated for September release from Viz, is unlike any other book that Viz has released in the American market. Rather than being presented in standard comics format, prestige comics format, or trade paperback, Shion is being marketed under the Viz Spectrum Editions imprint. Spectrum Editions will be graphic-novel sized, with full-color covers protected by a vinyl slip-cover, with 80 interior black-and-white pages. Shion: Blade of the Minstrel by Yu Kinutani, the title chosen to kick off the Spectrum Editions line, is a fantasy tale with strong visual appeal. It's the quasi-medieval story of a wandering minstrel-swordsman who seeks a fantastic beast who has plagued his dreams and life since childhood. He is on a quest to destroy his personal demon--literally.

"The art is absolutely stunning," Viz editor Seiji Horibuchi said. "He uses a brush and pen with an inordinate amount of skill for such a young artist. His imagination is fertile and his delicate artwork is a match for his amazing vision. This is a perfect title to introduce our new line, because the contents of this creator's work join perfectly with our expectations for what we feel Spectrum Editions will stand for: quality and uniqueness."

Shion: Blade of the Minstrel, priced at $9.95, is slated for late September release. A month later, a second Spectrum Editions title, a hardboiled mystery by Natsuo Sekikawa and Jiro Taniguchi entitled Hotel Harbour View, will follow in the same format.

SUPERMAN IS SEEING RED AGAIN

Get ready for Red Kryptonite! That's right, the quirky stuff (already introduced in the DC Universe in an earlier story) returns to prominence in a four-parter that begins in mid-September in Superman #49; it then continues to Adventures of Superman #472 and Action #659, and finally concludes in the double-sized Superman #50 in October. Starman #28, on sale in late September, ties in with this four-parter as Superman comes to Starman to try to regain his powers.

So what's the weird effect of Red Kryptonite this time? Well, it seems that Mr. Mxyzptlk's altered kryptonite steals Superman's powers entirely. This is especially serious since Superman is determined to continue his heroic responsibilities even without his super-powers--and there's a breakout brewing on Stryker's Island. Check it out and see if there's going to be a Superman #51!...

TRIDENT UNWINDS THE STRAND

Trident Comics unveils its newest anthology title in September with the release of Strand, a horror anthology with a difference. Trident reports that "the title strip will always lead the comic, and be the longest strip at twelve pages. It follows the adventures of a bizarre group of immortal characters: Darkness I, an Egyptian who won immortality in a game of dice with the gods; Jeremiah, the first immortal human, whose identity is a dark secret; Barney, who is always reincarnated, remembering all his past lives; and an angel shot down in a war-time dogfight." Their first adventure, a three-part story, deals with the latest of a regular series of demonic invasions of London that happens every three centuries, more or less; the last time around, in 1666, the demons brought plague and the Great Fire of London.

Strand is written by John Kaline (who worked with Dave McKean in AI) and drawn by Gary Caldwell, who also supplies the painted cover for the issue. The issue will also feature two limited run series and one-shot stories; contributors include Richard Elson, Danny Vallely, Andrew Elliott, and Nigel Dobbyn.

Strand 1 is priced at $2.50; it's a 32-page black and white comic with color covers.

SPIDER-MAN, SPIDER-MAN, DOES WHATEVER A HULK CAN

The Incredible Spider-Hulk? That's what's coming up in Web of Spider-Man #70, on sale September 6th. In this issue, Spider-Man's confrontation with the Hulk continues--but with an unexpected twist. A blood transfusion metamorphoses Spider-Man into the Spider-Hulk--and you can bet that this doesn't bode too well for the Hulk! Gerry Conway, Alex Saviuk, and Keith Williams will reveal just how things work out--be sure you're in the audience!

CSN AUGUST

BATMAN™ by Loebs, Infantino & Nyberg

NO CHANGE. IS HER GRAND-DAUGHTER STILL HERE?
SHE HAD TO SEE SOMEONE...
I HOPE YOU'RE SATISFIED, DENT!
MS. DRAKE. WHAT...?
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG
7-23-90
YOUR GOONS FRIGHTENED MY GRANDMOTHER INTO A HEART ATTACK!
I'M NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR EVERY CRANK PHONE CALL YOU RECEIVE.
AFTER ALL, COUNSELOR, YOU CHOSE TO DEFEND THE JOKER.
TO THINK I EVER RESPECTED YOU.
BRUCE, GET HER OUT OF HERE, WILL YOU?
LET'S FIND DAVE AND GET SOME COFFEE, CARLA.
IS THERE ANYTHING I CAN DO, CARLA?
YES. CONVINCE TWILL TO TESTIFY.
7-24-90
TWILL?
AMOS TWILL. HE'S ONE OF THE FOREMOST EXPERTS IN MENTAL DISORDERS... BUT HE WON'T GIVE US THE TIME OF DAY!
HMMM.
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG
THE HOME OF AMOS TWILL, FAMOUS AUTHORITY ON THE MIND...
TWILL
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG
I... I THOUGHT THE DRAPES MOVED...
7-25-90
ARE YOU A NIGHT-MARE?
ONLY TO THE GUILTY.
DR. TWILL, WHY WON'T YOU TESTIFY AT THE JOKER TRIAL?
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG
7-26-90
THE TRIAL IS CONTROVERSIAL. WHY SHOULD I MAKE ENEMIES?
YOU ONCE CARED ABOUT THE TRUTH.
I ONCE WAS A YOUNG MAN.
WHY SHOULD I TESTIFY FOR THE JOKER? BE ACCUSED OF BEFRIENDING A MURDERER? BE AN OBJECT OF HATRED?
7-27-90
IF I TESTIFY, CAN YOU PROTECT ME?
I'LL BE THERE.
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG
HARVEY, IS IT TRUE THAT AN OLD WOMAN WAS HURT AS A RESULT OF THE TRIAL?
7-28-90
NOT REALLY. YOU SHOULDN'T TAKE TOO SERIOUSLY ANYTHING LAWYERS SAY.
BESIDES, IF WE GET THE JOKER, THAT WILL JUSTIFY EVERYTHING!
LOEBS, CINFA & NYBERG
